Personal statement

A current computer games programming student expecting to graduate in 2019 from the University of Suffolk, with 3 years of experience using Unity3D and C# to develop games and applications for mobile and PC. Currently looking to secure a Unity Game Developer position or similar within a small team to utilise and build upon my current C# programming, communication and managerial skills within a practical and creative environment.

My eventual career goal is to assume responsibility of a small team within a company that values employee progression while working to develop a successful title.
